HAVE YOU READ YOUR ROTARY MAGAZINE TODAY??

Rotary Around the World

MEXICO:

The Tarahumara people live in remote regions of the Sierra Madre Occidental range. (They refer to themselves as Rarámuri, meaning "foot-runner," in reference to the way they navigate the mountainous terrain.) The Rotary clubs of Campbellford, Ont., Canada, and Chihuahua Campestre, Mexico, have worked for several years on projects such as developing a school with a specially designed Tarahumara curriculum, including an agricultural component to teach methods for protecting and improving soil and water. This year, the clubs are donating a small bus as well as hand tools and agricultural implements to the school.
